SUMMARY OF NEED: Chesapeake Bay Foundation (CBF) is seeking proposals from an experienced and engaging consultant to assist with the design, execution, and implementation of a multi-phased process for the development of our next five-year strategic plan (2026 - 2030).

BACKGROUND
For more than five decades, efforts have been underway to restore the Chesapeake Bay and its rivers and streams. What began as a movement by people recognizing that the Bay’s health was failing has grown into a remarkable, science-based collaborative effort experts consider the global model for ecosystem restoration. With support across geographies, ideologies, and political parties, considerable progress has been made.

Even as the watershed’s population has grown by half, pollution has been reduced significantly. Fish and crab populations are generally improving compared to when restoration efforts began. And over the long term, underwater dead zones are shrinking. The Bay is proving remarkably resilient, and it’s responding to what we’re doing on land to reduce pollution. But it’s still under extreme stress, we have a long way to go, and we need to be clear-eyed about the challenges. Far too much pollution, particularly from agriculture and urban/suburban polluted runoff, is still getting into the Bay and its rivers and streams. Climate change is a major threat, adding even more stress to the system and our communities. Environmental injustices and toxic legacy pollution must also be addressed.

As the Bay movement stares down another missed deadline in a string of missed deadlines, there is growing recognition that creating a vibrant watershed for future generations requires a new paradigm in our approaches and expectations. Together, we must build on what has worked, learn from what hasn’t, incorporate the latest science, and inspire a renewed movement for a watershed where humans and nature thrive together. This is our moment in time.

OPPORTUNITY
For the past decade, the Chesapeake Bay Foundation (CBF) has positioned its messaging and communications; policy and programmatic goals; and capital campaigns around the Chesapeake Clean Water Blueprint. Looming deadlines for the Blueprint, the conclusion of our most recent five -year capital campaign combined with new leadership and staff across many positions within CBF coincides with the end of our current strategic plan. This presents a tremendous opportunity to push CBF forward as a leading 21st Century organization and to chart a course toward the next iteration of Bay-saving beyond 2025. As we look to reimagine and reinspire efforts to save the Bay, CBF seeks an experienced individual or firm to help us chart that course through the development of our next five-year strategic plan.

THE PROJECT: CBF’s next strategic plan should have a solid foundation of a shared vision, lead to measurable goals that can effectively guide our ongoing and future work, fully embody principles of equity and inclusion, and provide a cohesive roadmap for our next five years. We want to place equity, transparency, inclusiveness, vision, and practicality at the forefront of an inclusive and thorough process to develop the strategic plan. Once CBF hires a strategic planning consultant, CBF will work with the consultant to design and establish a Strategic Planning team that will be comprised of a limited number of board members and staff and others recommended by the consultant. Additionally, the planning process will involve and engage several stakeholder groups including but not limited to CBF staff members, CBF’s leadership team, CBF’s current and former board members, CBF members, community members, partner organizations, relevant decision makers, and funders.

CBF intends for this strategic planning process to take place in the three phases outlined below. The work of phase one shall inform phases two and three. We anticipate needing to take an agile and adaptive approach to the process. We welcome proposals with a scope of work that covers one or more of the phases.

The planning process is expected to kick off in late September 2023. We anticipate that the new plan will be complete by December 2024 and take effect in 2025.

SCOPE OF WORK:

Phase 1: Evaluate, Modernize, and Articulate CBF’s Vision and Mission
An important starting place for the strategic planning process will be to better understand and uplift CBF’s critical and best role in advancing a healthy, equitable and vibrant Chesapeake Bay region. Building upon that understanding, we must evaluate, modernize, and articulate a clear organizational vision and mission. Some key questions to help guide phase one include:

1. What is CBF’s shared vision and mission?
2. What can we bring to the table that no one else can?
3. How do we define success?

Phase 1: Activities, Outcomes, and Deliverables:
Activities:

- Complete a landscape analysis to identify other entities working in this space defining each group’s role and unique value proposition.
- Identify CBF’s current role in this space and unique value proposition through activities such as conducting stakeholder research that engages environmental groups and funders in the Chesapeake Bay region whose missions overlap with CBF’s work. This research should: seek stakeholders’ perspectives of CBF’s role in achieving shared environmental goals and a diverse cross-section of audiences, including underrepresented communities in current and future environmental programs; identify CBF’s role in advancing these goals over the next 5 years and beyond; and outline how CBF can align organizational goals with existing funding sources and opportunities.
- Facilitate CBF staff and board through workshops and/or surveys to solicit feedback that defines, or reaffirms, CBF’s mission, vision, and goals.
Working with CBF’s leadership, identify strategic goals as they relate to CBF’s programs, operations, and culture, and how they each feed into the overarching goal.

Outcomes:
- Consensus around, willingness to transform, and adoption of the refined mission, vision, goals, and related programs.
- Team alignment on strategic goals and metrics of success for CBF as an organization.

Deliverables:
- A vision and mission to carry CBF forward for the next five years.
- Strengthen our regional impact and forecasting future organizational needs.

Phase 2: Develop CBF’s 2025-2030 Strategic Plan
The strategic plan should develop clarity around current and potential focus areas, program implementation, geographic scope of work, and primary audiences. The plan should define CBF’s core value-add to Bay restoration efforts and reaffirm impact and goals. The plan should incorporate DEIJ goals into our internal and external-facing work as well as define CBF’s approach to strategic partnerships, and advocacy. The plan should update goals and objectives for the organization while also serving as a guide to the development of annual and departmental workplans.

The plan should also outline the business and operational goals that support the overall mission and vision of CBF. This includes new philanthropic goals and strategies, and business practices.

Phase 2: Activities, Deliverables and Outcomes
Activities and Deliverables:
- Facilitate meetings with staff and board members, with leadership by the Strategic Planning team.
- Create and distribute agendas, workplans, and meeting notes/summaries.
- Create and oversee pre-meeting exercises for staff aimed to tackle some of the work virtually and synthesize results of meetings for feedback/discussion of staff and board.
- Provide guidance and best practices to leadership as we navigate complex decisions around organizational growth and structure.
- Write the final plan, allowing for two rounds of input/revisions.
- A strategic planning document that includes CBF’s mission, vision, and definition of success.
- The 5-year plan should articulate how to achieve the successes and goals that we defined in phase 1.
- CBF’s leadership team will be instrumental in informing the content of the strategic plan, however, we anticipate leaning on the consultant(s) to understand our mission and vision enough to connect our dots and translate our vision into achievable objectives.
- A final presentation to the entire board and staff at CBF that summarizes the key outcomes of the strategic planning process, including the proposed pathway for achieving success.
- Budget assessment and prospectus to present to third-party foundations for support of the new five-year strategic plan.

Outcomes:
- A strategic plan that includes actionable operational guidelines on the systems, processes, and structure for CBF to be successful, function as a fully integrated team, and always operate in a way that aligns with our vision, mission, and goals.
The strategic plan that results should clearly articulate the niche or roles filled by CBF relative to other groups and funders working on similar issues in the region. By identifying the specific roles that CBF can fill to have the greatest impact and weave equity into all of the goals to best engage with diverse audiences.

The strategic plan will help to guide CBF’s program development, partnership strategies, and philanthropic approaches.

Phase 3: Design a Strategic Plan Evaluation and Decision-making Framework
After the creation of a strategic plan in phase 2, we want to develop a plan for monitoring and evaluating the implementation of the strategic plan. This should include qualitative and quantitative metrics of progress toward achieving CBF’s goals. We also want to create a decision-support tool that we can return to while implementing the strategic plan. We want this tool to help us answer the big questions of how to portion our time and energy to stay focused while also staying innovative and flexible.

Phase 3: Activities, Deliverables and Outcomes:
- Create a complementary document that provides a decision-support matrix for leadership to implement the strategic plan. The tool should assist leadership in staying focused and aligned with the mission throughout operations and offerings implementation while meeting financial goals. Outcomes
- A support tool to monitor the strategic plan annually throughout the five-year period.

THE SCHEDULE:

We request that your proposal be delivered electronically to CBF staff member Danielle Hodgkin, dhodgkin@cbf.org, no later than 5:00pm on August 30, 2023.

It is the intent of CBF to make a selection no later than September 8, 2023. We will notify you once a decision for award of bid is made.

The schedule requires that the selected entity(s) complete all three phases by June 30, 2025.

MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS:
Because of the integrated phases of this strategic planning process, we are hoping to identify a single consultant or consulting team to complete two or more of the phases. We do not expect any single consultant to meet 100% of these qualifications and encourage you to submit a proposal if this work looks exciting to you.

- Experience in facilitation and consensus building. We want you to be able to ask questions that spark conversations, listen to the perspectives shared, and connect the dots that lead to both actionable outcomes and consensus. We believe that this skill is critical to aligning on a unified vision and defining our understanding of success throughout all aspects of CBF.
- Experience with strategic planning in mid-size, non-profit organizations with complex budgets and organizational structure.
- Experience establishing and measuring metrics for success at operational and programmatic levels.
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills that can help facilitate better participation during the iterative process but also create final concise and easily digestible materials of the activity outcomes.
- Expertise and experience in developing a strategic plan that includes clear milestones and activities for achieving the vision.
- Possesses an understanding of environmental issues and policies.
  Experience in the principles of DEIJ and developing equitable practices.
- Expertise and experience in building strategies that recognize the intersection of operations, budgeting, staffing, and offerings when building strategies and goals.
